

LURE OF THE STAGE LED HARTFORD GIRL TO VANISH HERE

Detectives Learn Elvina Guidone Was Met at Depot by Two Women.

Elvina Dolores Guidone, the missing Hartford girl, for whom the most diligent search has been made since last Monday, is believed by the Headquarters Detective Bureau to be here in New York and either in some theatrical company or seeking stage employment. Her brother John told detectives that the girl was stage-struck and that last April the family had to move from Bridgeport to Hartford to get her away from association with actresses who seemed to encourage her.

Detective Reynolds of the Central Office, said to an Evening World reporter today:

"The most promising clues we have lead us to believe that Miss Guidone is here in this city. We have run down every bit of information sent to us and every clue we could discover."

"Miss Guidone's father, Dr. Raphael Guidone, put her aboard a train in Hartford last Monday morning when she started for New York. As soon as she was on her way she purchased a seat in the parlor car of the train and instead of getting off at the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Station, as her family thought she intended to do, she told the porter she would go straight through to the Grand Central Terminal."

"The porter helped her off with her valise and saw her met at the terminal by two women who greeted her with much demonstration of affection. Then she went away from the terminal with them and that is the last seen of her."

"Word came to us that Miss Guidone had been seen in One Hundred and Thirty-second Street near Eighth Avenue, so her brother John and I went there last night and spent almost the entire night in the neighborhood, but got no trace of her."

"BOMB" MADE OF RUBBER.

But Parcel Gave Butter and Eggs Dealer a Scare.

When Eli Schechter, a dealer in butter and eggs at No. 333 Washington Street, received a small box by parcel post this morning he gave it to one of his clerks and said:

"I'm afraid this is a bomb. Take it to the Charles Street Station. I've been getting threats lately because I told the police about some stolen goods hidden by truckmen."

At the station, Owen Egan, of the Bureau of Combustibles, cut away the lower part of the box, and out rolled a lot of small rubber stamps which Schechter had ordered from a Cincinnati firm.

Owes Her Good Health to Duffy's

MRS. MARY CARMODY
"It was under the care of different doctors but did not improve and was so weak I could hardly stand and could not keep anything on my stomach. A druggist advised a tablespoonful of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey with an egg in milk, before meals, and after following his advice I could eat. I overcame my weakness and gradually gained in weight. I cannot praise Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey too much."—Mrs. Mary Carmody, 116 N. Elliot Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey should be in every home as a safeguard in emergencies requiring a stimulant, and ready to be taken on journeys for the protection it affords the traveler.

Its regular use by the weak and ailing gives remarkable results in health and strength as well as proper weight by stimulating the stomach to better action, and in consequence nourishing the entire body.
